

Religious Education
Y2/3 Autumn Term 1

How can Brahman be everywhere and in everything?

Knowledge

- Everyone has many different roles and we mean different things to different people.
- In our different roles, we demonstrate different characteristics and qualities.
- Hindus believe in one god, Brahman.
- Brahman has many aspects and takes on many forms.
- Brahman has three main forms, the Trimurti: Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva.
- Brahma is the creator. Vishnu is the preserver/protector. Shiva is the destroyer.
- Each Hindu god is a form of Brahman.
- Each Hindu god has different characteristics and qualities.
- Hindus pray to different gods for different reasons.

Vocabulary

aspect = a particular side or view of something or someone

Brahma = one of the three main forms of the Hindu god Brahman, known as the creator

Brahman = the one Hindu god with many different forms characteristic = a particular feature of someone's personality that helps to define what they are like and make them individual

Ganesha = one of the many Hindu gods that are forms of Brahman, prayed to for success

Hanuman = one of the many Hindu gods that are forms of Brahman, prayed to for courage and strength

Hindu = someone who follows the religion of Hinduism

Hinduism = the third-largest religion in the world, based on the belief in one god (Brahman) with many forms

Krishna = one of the many Hindu gods that are forms of Brahman, prayed to for protection and love

Lakshmi = one of the many Hindu gods that are forms of Brahman, prayed to for good fortune and power quality = a particular feature of someone's personality that helps to define what they are like and make them individual

Rama = one of the many Hindu gods that are forms of Brahman, prayed to for peace and goodness role = someone's job, what they do or are expected to do

Saraswati = one of the many Hindu gods that are forms of Brahman, prayed to for knowledge and wisdom

Shiva = one of the three main forms of the Hindu god Brahman, known as the destroyer

Trimurti = the name given to the three main forms of the Hindu god Brahman

Vishnu = one of the three main forms of the Hindu god Brahman, known as the preserver/protector

